PROJECTS

Title: SOS Mobile App (6th semester,)

Description: This project is a standalone Android application that allows its users to send notifications in case of an emergency or a panic situation. The users can send multiple text messages on the press of a single button. The phone numbers and the contents of the text messages can be set from within the application. The text messages sent along with the content also have the last known location of the user. This is very helpful in tracking the whereabouts of the person. The user can also call 100 directly from within the application, if the nature of the situation demands it.

Title: Hospital management System. (5th semester,)
